AT ITS ANNUAL MEETING

MAY 5th, 1908.

BY THE SECRETARY.

ing, he became stated supply of the church at White Haven, Pa., in September, 1873, serving this church until November, 1875. After this he resumed the practice of medicine in Kingston, Pa., from 1875 to 1883, and then in Le Raysville, Pa., from 1883 until his death, which occurred Aug. 13, 1907, in Le Raysville, of apoplexy, in the 76th year of his age. He was buried at Orwell, Pa. -

Mr. Cook was twice married: (1) March 14, 1865, in Worthington, Ind., to Emma Frances Langworthy, who died April 7, 1892; (2) Sept. 5, 1895, at Le Raysville, Pa., to Mary Haigh, who with one son and three daughters survives him.

JAMES ADDISON QUARLES, D.D. LL D.,

Son of James and Sarah Ann (Mills) Quarles, was born April 30, 1837, in Dunlora, Mo. He made a public confession of his faith in the Presbyterian church of Boonville, Mo., at the age of ten. His preparatory studies were pursued in Boonville under Prof. Frederick I. Kemper, and he graduated from Westminster College, Missouri, in 1858. He spent two years at the University of Virginia, and one year in teaching in Boonville, 1856-57, before going to Westminster College, which latter institution he attended during the long vacation between the two years he spent at Princeton. He entered the Seminary at Princeton in 1857, remaining there two years. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Missouri, April 9, 1859, and ordained by the same Presbytery, Feb. 15, 1860, being at the same time installed pastor of the church at Glasgow, Mo., which he had been serving since November, 1859. This relation was dissolved Jan. 1, 1866. He at once began serving the church at Lexington, Mo., and was installed its pastor Oct. 7, 1867, being released from this charge Oct. 4, 1873. During the last three years of this pastorate he was president of the Elizabeth Aull Seminary of Lexington, which he later served in the same capacity from 1877 to 1886. He served the High Street Church, St. Louis, Mo., as pastor-elect from October, 1873, to July, 1874, and the churches of Prairie and Richmond, Mo., as stated supply from May, 1875, to December, 1876. In 1886 he became professor of Moral Philosophy in Washington and Lee University, and continued to discharge the duties of this chair until his death, which occurred April 14, 1907, after a few days' illness, in Lexington, Mo., in the 70th year of his age. He was buried at Lexington, Mo. He received the degree of D.D. from Westminster College, Mo., in 1883, and that of LL.D. from Central University, Ky., in 1891. Dr. Quarles served Westminster College as a canvassing financial agent on two occasions. From January, 1874, to May, 1877, he was deputy county clerk of Lafayette County, Mo. He published a number of pamphlets and articles in the religious press, together with many sermons in the daily and weekly papers.

He was married Oct. 11, 1859, in Eldon, Mo., to Caroline Wallace Field, who survives him.

SAMUEL BAYARD DOD,

Son of Albert Baldwin and Caroline (Bayard) Dod, was born Dec. 3, 1838, in Princeton, N. J. He made a public confession of his faith in the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton at the age of sixteen. His preparatory studies were pursued in the Edgehill School in Princeton, under Doctors Thomas and William Cattell, and he graduated from Princeton University in 1857. He then spent a year and a half in study at the University of Berlin, Germany. Entering the Seminary at Princeton in 1858, he took the full three years' course there, graduating in 1861. He was licensed by the Presbytery of New Brunswick, Oct. 2, 1860, and ordained by the Presbytery of Hudson (O. S.) in June, 1862, being at the same time installed pastor of the church at Monticello, N. Y. This relation was dissolved in 1864. His only other pastorate was that of the church in Wilkesbarre, Pa., from 1864 until Sept. 27, 1868, when he resigned to take charge of the estate of the late E. A.
