LET THE LOWER LIGHTS BE BURNING.

ON A DARK, STORMY NIGHT, when the waves rolled like mountains, and not a star was to be seen, a boat, rocking and plunging, neared the Cleveland harbor. "Are you sure this is Cleveland?" asked the captain, seeing only one light from the light-house. "Quite sure, sir," replied the pilot. "Where are the lower lights?" "Gone out, sir." "Can you make the harbor?" "We must, or perish, sir!" And with a strong hand and a brave heart, the old pilot turned the wheel. But alas, in the darkness he missed the channel, and with a crash upon the rocks the boat was shivered, and many a life lost in a watery grave. Brethren, the Master will take care of the great light-house: let us keep the lower lights burning!—D. L. MOODY.

 Keep me, my Father, oh, keep me from falling!
 I had not sinned, had I felt Thou wert nigh;
 Speak, when the voice of the tempter is calling,
 So that temptation before Thee may fly.

 Thoughts of my sin much more humble shall make me
 For thy forgiveness I'll love Thee the more:
 So keep me humble until Thou shalt take me

Words by PAULINA.

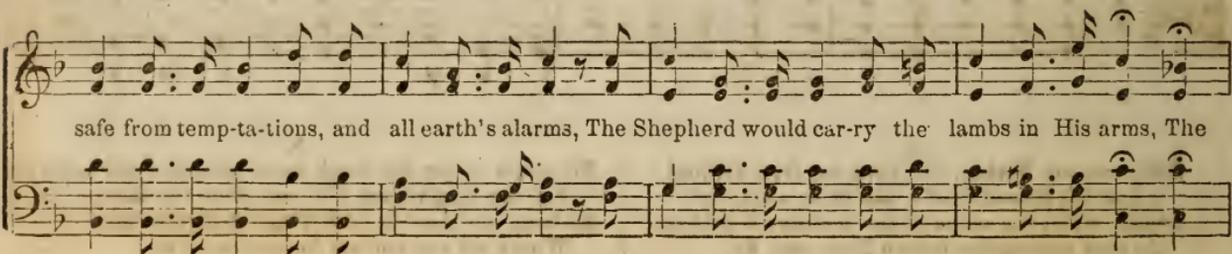

Music by T. MARTIN TOWNE.

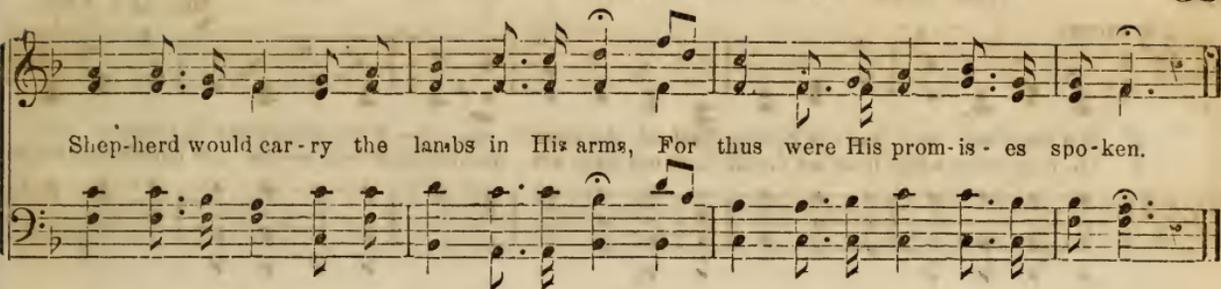

1. He called them of old to the arms of His love, And He ten-der-ly blest them, in to-ken That a

-place shall be theirs in the man-sions a-bove, When the frail sil-ver cord shall be bro-ken; That safe from temp-tations, and all earth's alarms, The Shepherd would car-ry the lambs in His arms, The Shepherd would carry the lambs in His arms, For thus were His promises spoken.

2. He calls them to-day, to His dear earthly fold,
 And they hear him and joyfully gather—
 As they did to His arms for the blessing of old,
 To the house of the gracious All-Father:
 They toil in His service, for many or few,
 ¶ There's always a work for the children to do: ¶
 Whose hearts choose the better part rather.

3. And so let us come to the Savior each day,
 For His blessing at morn and at even—
 For He never has turned little children away,
 And whatever we need will be given.
 Oh! trust in the love that can never grow cold,
 ¶ And follow His voice to the bright upper fold: ¶
 To feed 'mid the lilies of heaven.

NO TIME TO PRAY.

Words furnished by O. L. Wolcott.

Music by P. P. Bliss.

1. No time to pray! Oh, who so fraught with earthly care As not to give to humble prayer Some part of day?

2. No time to pray!
 What hear'st so clean, so pure within,
 That needeth not some check from sin—
 Needs not to pray?

3. No time to pray!
 Must care or business' urgent call
 So press us as to take it all
 Each passing day?

4. What thought more dear
 Than that our God his face should hide,
 And say, through all life's swelling tide,
 No time to hear!

 Beam the patient eyes, so tender,
 Of thy Savior, waiting there.

SAILING INTO PORT.

"SOME SHIPS cross the ocean with clear skies, smooth seas and fair winds, and come into port with streamers flying and bands of music making jubilee. Others come in storms, with the sky black as night, the wind like a hurricane, and the sea like mountains—and they come in all battered, yards gone, masts splintered, hardly enough left to hang together. But the difference amounts to nothing. The only important thing from first to last is, not what the log says about storm or calm, but that they all steer close to the compass, and do their best to make the harbor. So they only get there safely, what happened to them by the way is of no account. So as to God's children. There may, there will be vast variety of experience: to some, prosperity, success, joy—to others, adversity, defeat, grief. But what may be your lot or mine, is of no consequence. The one only thing of moment is, that we stick close to our chart and push for port with all our might. So we gain that, the pleasures or perils of the way do not matter."—Extract from a sermon preached by Dr. E. P. Goodwin. First Congregational Church, Chicago.

In Hyde Park, one of the suburban towns of Chicago, is a company of ten girls who support a Bible reader (one who goes from house to house), and also support and educate a young girl, both in Harpoot, Turkey. This they do by their contributions, and by an annual festival, at which articles that they have made and collected are sold. They call this festival the "Harvest Home." They are called the "Busy Gleaners." Mrs. S. P. Farrington, their teacher and director, asked our Mr. Root to write a festival song for their coming "Harvest Home." The following, which is the result, will, we think, be regarded as one of this author's happiest efforts.—[EDITOR CHARM.]

Music by JAMES R. MURRAY.

1. Bound for the Bet - ter Land, Why should we slum - ber, Or in the vine - yard stand,

On - ly to cum - ber? Sands of life are run - ning fast, Let us be do - ing;

CHORUS.

Be like he - roes of the past—"Faint, yet pur - su - ing." Bound for the Bet - ter Land,

Why should we slum - ber? Or in the vine - yard stand, On - ly to cum - ber?

2. What though we wander here
 Midst doubt and dangers?
 Soon shall the shore appear,
 Where these are strangers;
 Where the pilgrim's broken staff
 Needs no renewing:
 Wine for wormwood shall we quaff—
 "Faint, yet pursuing." Chorus.

3. Then for the Better Land
 Let us be straining;
 Stout heart and ready hand
 Ground still are gaining.
 We must wage a warfare brave,
 Strong foes subduing;
 Battling to the open grave—
 "Faint, yet pursuing." Chorus.

2. "To one of the least, in my name," saith the Lord,
 "No visit of mercy shall lose its reward;"
 But measure for measure shall earth-life restore,
 And treasure in heaven—Remember the poor.
 Remember the poor,
 Remember the poor.
 And treasure in heaven—Remember the poor.

 So freely receiving, as freely bestow;
 In mansions so fair on the evergreen shore,
 Would you be remembered? Remember the poor.
 Remember the poor,
 Remember the poor.
 Would you be remembered? Remember the poor.

INFANT CLASS.

GENTLE JESUS, MEEK AND MILD.

Slowly and prayerfully.

(Child's Prayer.)

Words and Music by H. R. PALMER.

1. Gen - tle Je - sus, meek and mild, Hear thou now a lit - tle child ;
2. Lord, I would to thee be brought; Pu - ri - fy my ev - 'ry thought ;

3. All my dai - ly wants sup - ply ; On thy boun - ty I re - ly ;
4. Gen - tle Je - sus, meek and mild, Hear thou now a lit - tle child ;

Bless - ed Sa - vior, pit - y me, Help me come to thee.
Cleanse and make me free from sin, Keep me pure with - in.

Bless and keep my loved ones dear. Bless - ed Sa - vior, hear.
Thou, O Lord, art all in all, Hold me lest I fall.

1. Hear the gently fall-ing showers Call-ing to the grass and flowers.

(Children tap lightly with their finger-nails on seats or desks during the singing of these two lines, to imitate the pattering of the rain.)

Teacher recites—"He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass; as showers that water the earth."—Psalms, 72: 6.

2. Hear the softly whisp'ring breeze
Singing sadly through the trees.

(Children rub their hands lightly together while singing these two lines.)

Teacher recites—"For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth. The LORD, the God of hosts, is his name."—Amos, 4: 13.

3. Hear the noisy whistling gale,
Sounding over hill and vale.

(During the singing of these two lines, all rub their hands briskly together, and a part of the class force their breath through their teeth, to imitate the whistling of the gale.)

Teacher recites—"How long wilt thou speak these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind?" Job, 8: 2.

4. Hear the mighty thunder crash,
See the vivid lightning flash.

(During the singing of the first line the pupils draw their feet back and forth on the floor, imitating thunder. At the same time let the hands make a zigzag motion through the air in addition to the noise with the feet.)

Teacher recites—"Thou art the God that doest wonders; thou hast declared thy strength among the people. The voice of thy thunder was in the heaven; the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shook."—Pt. 11, 14, 18.

"For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be" Matt. 24: 27.

5. Thunder, lightning, wind and rain
Make the fearful hurricane.

(After singing this the children make all the motions at once, and with increasing force until a signal from the teacher to cease.)

Teacher recites—"When he uttereth his voice, there is a multitude of waters in the heavens; and he causeth the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; He maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures."—Jeremiah, 10: 13.

THINK ON THESE THINGS.—CONCERT EXERCISE.

[Philippians iv: 8.]

Six large cards, marked—"What-so-ever things are," being suspended at a convenient height, each singer, at the conclusion of his stanza, attaches a card bearing his word under one of the large syllables.

Then a small girl, as she sings, may hang a card marked Virtue on the one marked Honest; a small boy attach Praise to Lovely; then another, perhaps still smaller, girl and boy, put on the last long card, while they sing—Think on these things. When completed the cards will read:

 In this wide world we see;

 How lovely heaven must be.

 Present a lovely sight;
 May only good report be heard

PART I.

The patriarch musing alone in Life's | even,
Remembered the absent in whispers to | Heaven,
As flitted the shadows, one after an | other,
He | called the dear child of a | dearly loved mother.

And he said to him, "Go, I pray thee, see whether it be well with thy brethren, and well with the flocks, and bring me word again."—GEN. 37 : 14.

The land of Judea lay bright in the | morning,
A smile ev'ry valley and hilltop a | dorning,
When Joseph, (unconscious of evil en | deavor,)
Passed | on, and left Hebron, and | childhood forever.

When they saw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conspired against him to slay him.
GEN. 37 : 18.

And dark as their deed was the pit where they | cast him,
And jeered at the dreamer and scornfully | passed him,
But one with heart cast in a softer mould | rather
Would | fain have delivered the | child to his father,

And Reuben said "Shed no blood but cast him into this pit," that he might rid him out of their hands to deliver him unto his father.—GEN. 37 : 22.

The merchants of Midian passed with their | spices,
The brethren were ready with falsehood's de | vices;
And trusting they never again might be | hold him,
They | drew up their hated young | brother and sold him.

Sold Joseph into Egypt for twenty pieces of silver, and they brought Joseph into Egypt.—GEN. 37 : 28.

But what of the coat that was stripped from the | wearer?
What hand to the father could dare to be | bearer?

Could hold the false dye to the searching of | Heaven,
And | list to the heartbreak—the | one word "bereaven."
And they sent the coat of many colors, and they brought it to their father, and said, "This have we found, know now whether it be thy son's coat or no."
GEN. 37 : 32.

They rose up to comfort him, they who had | taken
The light of his life and had left him for- | saken,
But sitting in sackcloth alone in his | sorrow,
He | felt that the night of his | grief had no morrow.

And he said "For I will go down into the grave unto my son mourning? Thus his father wept for him.

PART II.

There's dearth in the land, and the olive tree | faileth,
The vineyard is barren—the husbandman | paleth,
And Jacob of those who regarded each | other
Asked | "why look ye sadly thus | one to another?"

"Behold I have heard that there is corn in Egypt, get you down thither and buy for us from thence that we may live and not die."—GEN. 42 : 2.

The lord of the country spake roughly un | to them,
They knew not the dreamer of old, but he | knew them;
Said he, "Ye are spies, and some tidings would | gather?
Said | they, "We are true men—the | sons of one father."

"If ye be true men, let one of your brethren be bound in the house of your prison; go ye, carry corn for the famine of your houses, but bring your youngest brother, so shall your words be verified."—GEN. 42 : 19, 20.

Remorseful their murmuring one to an | other,
"We're verily guilty concerning our | brother;

We saw the soul anguish with which he be | sought us,
And | heard not, and so the dis | tress hath been wrought us.”

And Reuben answered them saying, “Spake I not unto you saying ‘Do not sin against the child,’ and ye would not hear? therefore behold also his blood is required.”
GEN. 42: 22.

Ah! knew they the lord of the country was | weeping,
That griefs of the past to the present were | leaping?
Then each to his father, with heavy heart | carried
The | corn and the money, for | Simeon tarried.

And Jacob said, “Me have ye bereaved of my children.
Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take away
Benjamin also. My son shall not go down with you.”
GEN. 42.

Yet sore was the famine. The valley of | Jordan
No more at the vintage time glowed like a | garden,
No grain for the reaper—no grapes for the | pressing,
No | seed for the spring time—no | bread for the blessing.

And it came to pass when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them—(GEN. 43: 2.)

“Go again, buy us food.” And the little ones | pleaded,
“Go again, buy us food,” but the cry was un | heeded,
For sadly the answer passed one to | another,
“We | cannot, except we take | with us our brother.”

And their father Israel said unto them, “If it must be so now, do this, take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels and carry down the man a present. Take also your brother.

And God give you merey and favor be | fore him,
And shield your young brother, and safely re | store him,
Yea, bring both again to make glad my life’s | even—
Be | reaved of my children, O : | I am bereaven.

And they took the present and Benjamin, and went down to Egypt and stood before Joseph.

Strange mists in the eyes of the ruler would | gather,
As softly he asked of the “old man,” their | father,

Then searchingly glancing from one to | another,
He | faltered a blessing a | bove the young brother.

And they sat before him the first born according to his birthright, and the youngest according to his youth, and the men marveled one to another. And they drank and were merry with him.

PART III.

A clatter of hoofs that the valley hath | shaken,
A shout and a rush, and the men are o’er | taken,
The dark-browed pursuers severe in dis | pleasure,
The | Canaanites moved and sur | prised beyond measure.

And they said unto him “Wherefore saith my lord these words: God forbid that thy servants should do according to this thing.

We brought back the silver and gold as | we wot of—
The treasure of which my lord’s steward knew | not of;
Then how should thy servants do this thing be | fore thee,
How | take from my lord of his | riches or glory?

“With whomsoever it be found, both let him die, and we also will be my lord’s bondmen.”—GEN. 44: 9.

The sacks had been opened one after an | other,
With glances of triumph from brother to | brother,
One only remaining; in haste they sur | round it
And | ope and fall backward, O | God, have they found it?

Then they rent their clothes, and laded every man his ass and returned to the city.

What thoughts are the ruler’s as prostrate be | fore him
They cover the face, and in anguish im | plore him,
As Judah all pleas of affection would | gather,
In | one grand appeal for the | stricken old father.

Then Joseph could not refrain himself before all them that stood by him, and he cried,

“Cause ev’ry man here to go out.” And they left | him.
Some deeming that grief had of reason be | reft him,
As swept the strong tide he no longer might | smother,
They | heard as he cried “I am | Joseph, your brother,
Doth my father yet live?”—GEN. 45: 35.

1. "Stop and think!" is Wil-lie's mot-to; And a pre-cious one it is: If you would be

CHORUS.
It will save from Sin's dark brink,

Wil-lie's mot-to, "Stop and think." Stop and think, Stop and think, Stop, stop, stop and think.

2. When a hasty word he'd utter,

While dark thoughts his bosom fill,
Soon you'll see the sunshine glowing
On the face of darling Will:

It will save from Sin's dark brink,
Willie's motto, "Stop and think!"

3. When his hand is raised in anger

And you'd think the blow must fall,
Look! the shadows quickly vanish;
Peace is brooding over all.

It will save from Sin's dark brink,
Willie's motto, "stop and think!"

4. When temptations hedge your pathway,

And you scarce can see the way,
"Stop and think" before you venture,
Lest you blindly go astray.

It will save from Sin's dark brink,
Willie's motto, "Stop and think!"
