4, 1906, to Sept. 9, 1906, and stated supply of the church at Bay Ridge, N. Y., from Sept. 16, 1906, to Feb. 24, 1907. After this he resided in Westfield, N. J., until his death, which occurred Feb. 18, 1917, in Westfield, from the effects of colitis after a long and painful illness in the 73rd year of his age. He was buried in Muncy, Pa. He received the honorary degree of D.D. from Emporia College in 1900.

He was married May 13, 1874, in Muncy, Pa., to Mary Hepburn Rankin, who with one daughter survives him.

JAMES DAVID MOFFATT, D.D., LL.D.,

Son of John and Mary Ann (McNeelan) Moffat, was born March 15, 1846, in New Lisbon, O. He made a public confession of his faith in the Second Presbyterian Church of Wheeling, W. Va., at the age of eighteen. His preparatory studies were pursued in Homeworth, O., under the Rev. John R. Dundas, and in the Linsly Institute of Wheeling, W. Va., and he graduated from Washington and Jefferson College in 1869. Entering the Seminary at Princeton in the fall of the same year he remained two years. He was licensed by the Presbytery of Washington, April 24, 1871, and ordained by the same Presbytery, May 8, 1873. He supplied the Second Church of Wheeling, W. Va., from April 14, 1871, until made its associate pastor, May 8, 1873, and was its pastor from Dec. 27, 1875, to Jan. 1, 1882. At this time he was called to the presidency of Washington and Jefferson College and continued in this office until 1915, when he resigned and was made president emeritus. He continued his residence in Washington, Pa., until his death there, Nov. 4, 1916, of paralysis, in the 71st year of his age. He was buried in Washington, Pa. He received the honorary degree of D.D. from Hanover College, Indiana, in 1882, and from Princeton College in 1883, and the degree of LL.D. from the Western University of Pennsylvania in 1897, from the University of Pennsylvania in 1901 and from Missouri Valley College in 1906. From 1893 until 1895 he was associate editor of the Presbyterian Banner and was moderator of the General Assembly at Winona Lake in 1905, and was several times a commissioner to the General Assembly. He was a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian Council in 1888 and in 1904, and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Theological Seminary. He was chairman of the Committee on the Legal Relations of the Seminaries to the General Assembly appointed by the Assembly of 1916. He published numerous addresses and wrote many of the editorials for the Presbyterian Banner from 1893 to 1905.

He was married Sept. 6, 1876, in Vernon, N. Y., to Elizabeth Dalzell Crangle, who with one son and two daughters survives him.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS FULLERTON,

Son of Humphrey and Nancy (Gormly) Fullerton, was born April 25, 1845, in Allegheny City, Pa. He made a public confession of his faith in the Second Presbyterian Church of Princeton, N. J., at the age of twenty. His preparatory studies were pursued in Princeton under the Rev. Lewis W. Mudge, D.D., and he graduated from Princeton University in 1869. He then engaged in business for a short time in Augusta, Ga. He entered the Seminary at Princeton in 1870, taking the full course there and graduating in 1873. He was licensed by the Presbytery of New Brunswick, April 10, 1872, and ordained by the Presbytery of Westminster, June 4, 1873, being at the same time installed pastor of the church at Dillsburg, Pa. He was released from this charge May 26, 1879. He was pastor of the church at Curwensville, Pa., from June 10, 1879, to Dec. 23, 1884, and of the church at Apollo, Pa., from Jan. 1, 1885, to June 21, 1899. He spent the next five years in Princeton, N. J., preaching as occasion offered. He
